

Helping Your Kids Learn About Money

December 9, 2020

Resources

1. Money as You Grow: Help for Parents and Caregivers: Resource from the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau that includes tips and activities to help your child's money skills, habits and attitudes grow. <https://www.consumerfinance.gov/consumer-tools/money-as-you-grow/>
2. Money as You Grow Guide: Original resource developed by the U.S. Treasury that describes the financial education content children should know by which age and activities that can help reinforce the information. <https://www.treasury.gov/resource-center/financial-education/Documents/Money%20as%20You%20Grow.pdf>
3. Northwest Youth Financial Education: Developed by University of Idaho Extension, this program designed to increase financial literacy among youth and young adults. The goal is to deliver fun, interactive programs to increase knowledge, improve economic prospects and teach money skills. <https://www.uidaho.edu/extension/4h/programs/nw-youth-financial-ed>
4. The mint: Financial education for youth. Provides fun activities for kids, tips for teens, pointers for parents, and ideas for teachers. This site was created by Northwestern Mutual. <http://www.themint.org/kids/>